brand new

Blu

Let's imagine a 4-star camping site, first in gradations deepening from a delicately pale blue down to the darkest of dark blues, just like the tones of the sea along Senigallia's coast. We'll imagine it, this camping site, obviously as being brand new, bright and shining, just in time to open the 2009 summer season. Then, let's say that it is 500 metres long, and that each metre, one by one, would face the sea: something like having a coffee with your feet dangling in the water, softly caressed by the lapping of the waves. And let's suppose that the rates are extraordinarily competitive, with extremely special offers, just like in a fairy tale... And why not add a swimming pool with hydro-massage for good measure. What's that, only one? No! There are two! Oh, well... Then nearby, we can put in a park with, well...let's see...lots and lots of fun games with animator, and not just any animator but one just right for good children or bored children and even the liveliest of children. In this magic place of white and blue we'll see families with small children arriving in dries and drabs, other people with disabilities, some retired people, kids in summer camp and many other sports and holiday maker associations (because of course in our dream place there will even be a place for workshops). Everyone has made the same wish: to stay in a tranquil, relaxing spot, not too close to noisy nightclubs, restaurants and bars but close enough to get to the city centre with ease, a bright and clean place, tidy and well-organized without forgetting ecological services like recycling which respect the environment as well, a place... Does it still seem like a fairy tale? No, not at all, it is just the foremost, most advanced avantguard!
